

East of Mecca by Sheila Flaherty

This moving and unforgettable debut novel East of Mecca tells a timely, harrowing, and heartbreaking story of love and betrayal, the transcendent power of friendship, and the ultimate price of oppression. Driven by financial desperation, Sarah and Max Hayes are seduced by promises of a glamorous expatriate lifestyle in Saudi Arabia. Sarah surrenders her career when Max accepts a prestigious job with Ocmara Oil Company and they relocate their family to the shores of the Persian Gulf. Locked inside the heavily-guarded Ocmara compound, Sarah becomes invisible within the fundamentalist Islamic Kingdom. Gradually, she is drawn into a clandestine, illicit friendship with Yasmeen, a Saudi woman. Together they find freedom beneath the veils and behind the walls of the Saudi women's quarters—until inconceivable events force Sarah to make life-or-death decisions. Told with riveting authenticity and exquisite detail, East of Mecca explores the abuse of absolute power with an elegant balance of cultural nuance and moral inquiry. Long after you have turned the last page, you will be haunted by the vivid characters and powerful scenes illuminating this tour de force.

Flaherty is an award winning writer and clinical psychologist who specializes in helping people navigate life changes with grace and ease. She holds a Bachelor's degree in Psychology, a Master's in Behavioral Sciences from the University of Houston, and earned her Ph. D. in Clinical Psychology from Northwestern University Medical School in Chicago. East of Mecca has received several book awards, and, in screen play format, has placed in numerous screenwriting competitions.

Sheila Flaherty's novel East of Mecca is forged from the crucible of personal experience and from the experiences of others close to her while living as an expat in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia. Through the narrator's eyes, we witness the hardships and injustices faced by Saudi women. More surprising—and more unsettling, perhaps—are the oppression and domestic miseries borne by wives and daughters in some expat communities, which Flaherty depicts with unflinching realism and compassion. —Mary Trouille, Professor of Women's Studies, Illinois State University

BOOK AWARDS

- Silver Nautilus Book Award in Fiction for 2015
- Amazon Best Seller in Middle Eastern Fiction for over 3 years
- 5-star Reviews from Over 100 Readers on Amazon
- 5-Star Review and IndieReader Approved
- 5-Star Review & Gold Award from Literary Titan
- Best Self-Published Books of 2016 by IndieReader
- Best Self-Published Books by Rebels Market in 2018

East of Mecca is available in paperback and ebook on Amazon and Barnes & Noble.

For additional information visit East of Mecca.com